

Freedom of thought under fire in China

Freedom of thought under fire in China | RSS.com

As several leading universities scrub freedom of thought from their charters and formalise allegiance to Chinese Communist Party doctrine, we ask just how far academia in China will bend to politics in the era of Xi Jinping? Seasoned China watchers Dr Delia Lin and Dr Sow Keat Tok join host Ali Moore to examine the new authoritarian tilt on China's campuses.

Transcript here.

An Asia Institute podcast.

Produced by Profactual - the Podcasting Specialists.

Music by audionautix.com.

Image: Fudan University Law School, China. Source: Flickr, Jens Schott Knudsen